DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Eitel et al. (US 2005/0199229). Regarding claim 1, Eitel discloses an EGR system in a supercharged engine (101) comprising an exhaust line operable to lead exhaust gases out from the combustion engine, an inlet line (109) operable to lead air at above atmospheric pressure to the engine, a return line (105 to 110) comprising a connection to the exhaust line (103) and a connection to the inlet line (109), so that the return line is operable to recirculate exhaust from the exhaust line to the inlet line and a second cooler (106) operable to cool exhaust in the return line by use of a liquid medium (col. 3, lines 25-27), a first cooler (107) cooled by ambient air (col. 3, line 28), the first cooler incorporated in the inlet line downstream from the connection (110) of the return line to the inlet line so that, when the exhaust is returned via the return line, the first cooler cools the mixture of exhaust gases and air before the mixture is led to the engine (Fig. 2).
3. Regarding claims 2-10, Eitel discloses the arrangement of claim 1 including a cooling system containing a liquid medium and which is operable for cooling the engine (col. 3, lines 25-27), a cooler arranged close to the first cooler (engine radiator) for cooling the coolant in the cooling system (col. 3, lines 34-39), an EGR valve (105) in the return line, a control unit operable for controlling the EGR valve (col. 1, lines 66-67), a turbine (104) positioned and operable for being driven by exhaust not in the return line and a compressor (104) to be driven by the turbine so the compressor compresses air in the inlet line, the engine being a diesel or Otto engine and a venturi (110) between the return line and the inlet line which delivers returned exhaust gases into the inlet line (Fig. 2).
